

May 11, 2018

London Life participating policyowner dividend scale announcement – 2018

The board of directors approved the recommendation of the company's actuary to increase the 2018 participating policyowner dividend scale for all London Life participating life insurance policies issued on or after Jan. 1, 2017.

This change takes effect on July 1, 2018.

The dividend scale will stay the same for all London Life policies issued on or before Dec. 31, 2016, and for former Prudential policies.

Looking ahead

At least once a year, we review the participating policyowner dividend scale. This includes reviewing experience related, but not limited to, investments, insurance claims (also called mortality), expenses and other factors. This review determines whether the dividend scale needs to change.

For more information

- Participating account investment reports can be found in Rates, Values and Performance
- Further financial information is in London Life participating life insurance financial facts